

Ewa Czochrowska

Graduated from the Dental Faculty, Academy of Medicine in Warsaw, Poland in 1991. From 1991-1994 an assistant-lecturer at the Conservative Dentistry and Periodontology Department in Warsaw. In 1997 she had finished a postgraduate specialist training in orthodontics at the University in Oslo, Norway; then a Research Fellow at the Orthodontic Department, Dental Faculty in Oslo until 2002. In 2003 received a PhD from a University in Oslo for a trial on the management of growing patients with missing teeth with emphasis on the autotransplantation of teeth. Received the AJODO Helen and B.F. Dewel Orthodontic Award in 2002. Board Member of the Polish Orthodontic Society, member of the European Orthodontic Society. She has a private orthodontic office in Warsaw and her current research is based on the outcome of tooth transplantation in Poland and different aspects of multidisciplinary treatment at the Department of Periodontology, Medical University in Warsaw.