

Arni Thordarson

Curriculum vitae:

Arni Thordarson obtained his dental degree at the University of Iceland in 1982 and completed his postgraduate training in orthodontics at the University of Oslo in 1986.

He is a member of the American Association of Orthodontists, Angle Society of Europe and the European Orthodontic Society, and a diplomat of the EBO (European Board of Orthodontist).

He has authored several articles on epidemiology, but his other research interests include autotransplantation of teeth and three-dimensional imaging in orthognathic surgery. He served on the Editorial Board of the Icelandic Dental Journal from 1990-1997 and was editor from 1988-1990. He is a former President of the Icelandic Orthodontic Society and a former Associate Professor and Chairperson of the Department of Orthodontics, Faculty of Odontology, University of Iceland. Subsequently he has held the position of Honorary Research Fellow at the same department.

Arni Thordarson is an authorized specialist in orthodontics and has been in private practice in Reykjavik since 1988.