

Teitur Jónsson

Dr Jónsson received his dental education at the University of Iceland and graduated from the Faculty of Odontology as Cand Odont. He completed his postgraduate training at the University of Oslo in 1975 and was in private practice as a specialist in orthodontics in Akureyri, Iceland 1976-2009. In 1986-7 he was a visiting clinician and researcher at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester Minnesota. In 2000 he joined the University of Iceland in Reykjavík and is currently Associate Professor of orthodontics and Dean at the Faculty of Odontology. His research interests and publications are focused on autotransplantation of teeth, epidemiology and development of the occlusion.